we do... so what do you end up talking to them about? Goats.

I have recently started seeing a podiatrist looking for some relief for my poor, tired feet. As we were getting acquainted, he asked me what I "do" for a living.

It is a real conversation starter when your answer is "goats". Now every month when I pop into the doctor's office, he asks about the goats. How many do you have? When will the babies get here? How big are they? Funny, I have never asked him how many feet he looks at everyday or how big they are.

There are now a couple issues of Goat Rancher out in his waiting room. Yes, it is true. I take my job everywhere. If I am not handy to talk about goats in person, I will leave magazines behind as a substitute.

So I guess I need to adjust my resolutions for 2019 to better accommodate my lifestyle.

It is OK if my house continues to look like I am gearing up to audition for the next season of "Hoarders". I can live with that.

And as for my office... well, it IS goat central and will remain a busy, cluttered-up place. So here behind the desk, I will be starting off 2019 right where 2018 ended ... with an ever-growing stack of pictures of goats and articles about goats and e-mails about goats — I even have a stash of stuffed goat toys. Goats are everywhere!

What would I change if I could? Not much. It would be nice if someone would mop the floor from time to time. But other than that, I'm good

Hope you all have a wonderful New Year and Happy Goating! ■
